From the Principal

Welcome to Week 5 - I actually had to double check my calendar to make sure of the week as I thought it surely couldn't be so far into the term already! But yes, it is!

I'd like to thank the mums and dads who were able to give a little time last week to prepare our "Cold Rock" for our kiddos to have as their last Year 6 fundraiser for the year. It's really hard to find time these days to help out in what is our increasingly busy lives, so we really do appreciate it.

I spent the last few days of last week attending the National Primary Principal's Conference. The speakers were absolutely amazing. From both State and Federal Education Ministers to the founder of Heart on Your Sleeve and others, I took away lots of inspiration, knowledge about improving my own leadership and looking after my own health and wellbeing and arrived at work today with an additional spring in my step. Admittedly, that also may have been because Ralph was extra excited about being back at work after being away for a few days.

Miss McKinnon and I were kindly invited to attend a parent information evening at Emma's Kindy Patch last week. It was interesting talking to parents of children who wouldn't be attending school for a few years yet and answering their questions. But one thing stood out for me as it often does when I speak to you as well; as parents we're all concerned about the falling level of respect. This is across schools, in the community, in the media and in society in general. This may not be a popular thing to say publicly, but you as parents are the first teachers, you are the ones that teach respect. If you want respectful kids at school, then teach them to be so - to their teachers, to their peers, to school staff. Speak respectfully about school at home, speak respectfully about teachers, about school staff. Children are mirrors - they mirror what they see you do.

And on that note, have a great week everyone!

PBL FOCUS – WEEK 5

"I can try new things"

Kindergarten 2023

A reminder that vision screening will be happening at CUBS tomorrow 8th November and the following week. We are still waiting for quite a few consent forms so if these can be brought in tomorrow it would be greatly appreciated.

Kindergarten Expo

A reminder that we will be holding our Kindergarten Expo on Tuesday 22nd November (during the first Kindergarten Orientation Session). This will be a great chance for all of our Kindergarten 2023 parents to find out information about our amazing school as well as have the chance to meet some key people within our school as well as try on or purchase some of our school uniforms. We look forward to seeing you there.

Uniform Sales

We are pleased to announce our summer uniform shop days for collection of uniforms, for those who would like to order uniforms on Flexischools either for their Kindergarten 2023 starters or for those wanting a new uniform for the new year.

Christmas News - 48 Days until Christmas!

Santa's Mailbox

As we continue our countdown to Christmas, we are very excited that our North Pole Mailbox has arrived! We have been assured that letters posted in this mailbox have a direct link to the North Pole and the elves have promised to do their best to get Santa to send a reply. Santa's Mailbox is located at the entrance to our office and will remain there until the end of Week 9.

A reminder that the office is collecting donations from our community of Christmas food, toys and luxury Items for families who may need some extra assistance this holiday season. Some suggestions for donations can be found on the flyer at the back of this newsletter.
